

18 THE TOUGHEST TICKETS: TUSK AND THE MASTERS!

One is a thrilling, once-in-a-lifetime event that many dream about, but few ever get to experience.

The other is The Masters.

Put them together and you've got one of the greatest lots we've ever had the opportunity to present. Four nights at a luxurious four-bedroom house in Augusta, Georgia, for the 2023 Masters golf tournament, where you'll watch Scheffler, and Rory and Rahm (and maybe even Tiger) do their thing on the world's biggest stage.

But while the rest of the sunburned masses will be swilling Michelob Ultra and downing hot wings, you'll be taking part in one of the most elusive wine experiences in the world: a TUSK wine dinner, hosted by TUSK proprietor Tim Martin and featuring TUSK wines, crafted by Philippe Melka. TUSK, of course, is the unobtainable Cabernet that always pops up on a list of Napa Valley's most expensive wines and is basically harder to get than the Green Jacket.

The first of four major championships and considered the most prestigious of them all, the tournament is held yearly at the Augusta National Golf Club. Entry to the tournament is by invitation, making it the major golf championship with the smallest field of players. Many traditions surround the event, one of them being the awarding of the green jacket to the tournament's winner.
