

LOT 5 Vrooming Thru the Vineyards:

“You don’t need an Uber, You don’t need a cab,
F a bus pass, you got a moped, man!”
- Macklemore, “Downtown”

Nothing kills a Napa Valley buzz faster than fretting about getting around.

Luckily, you won’t be worrying about that. Sunday morning after WineaPAWlooza 2024, you’ll start—don’t worry, not too early—with a light brunch at Auberge Stanly Ranch. Then you’ll hitch a ride to lunch as a part of Napa Valley’s coolest road rally.

Led by vintner Scotti Stark’s BADASS 1966 Shelby Cobra Mustang, you and the fleet of sweet automobiles—chauffeured by their winemaker/owners—will take the long, long, long way to lunch. With the wind in your hair and the sexy burbles of V-8s and straight-6s whispering in your ear, you’ll cruise on Trancas to Monticello, through Pope Valley and over Howell Mountain, down to Brasswood in time to dine.

When you hit the table, the vintners will shift gears and start popping magnums—and they could be of anything: Kirk Venge, (Venge Vineyards), Mac Watson (Macauley), Russell Bevan (Bevan and Adversity Cellars), Amanda Harlan (Harlan Estate), Oscar Renteria (Tres Perlas), Dean Gray (Riverain), Benoit Touquette (Fait+Main), Scotti Stark (Harumph), Fritz Hatton (Arietta Wine) and Scott Miller (Amles) will all be there, steering the corkscrew.

You be there too!
