

6L 1993 Screaming Eagle. Mic Drop!

A signed 1993 Screaming Eagle straight from the founder's cellar, in the rarest and most valuable format of all: the 6L.

Need we say more?

We need not, but here we go anyway. Screaming Eagle is "the ultimate collector's Cabernet Sauvignon," according to Robert Parker. The 1993 is just their second vintage, and this ultra-rare 6-liter comes straight from the founder's cellar—signed by founder Jean Phillips. Seriously, 32 years later, how many more of these babies do you think are out there? Maybe none.

We all know that big bottles age slowly and gracefully, and the tiny bit of oxygen in this whopping bottle has been working its delicate magic for over three decades. It's hard to imagine this Oakville wine being anything less than perfect. Grab this, and your cellar's got a new superstar.
