WINE COUNTRY WILDLIFE

Think you've gone wild in wine country? Not until you've spent a debaucherous weekend in the orbit of three of Napa Valley's most fun - loving luminaries. Reassure your better half it's only for one weekend, and believe us—one weekend with this hedonistic trio is more than enough.

The wine world knows these three men for their work: Oscar Renteria is one of the most accomplished grapegrowers in the Valley, Kirk Venge is a 100-point Cabernet magic man, and Richard Vonsaal has designed some of Napa Valley and the country's most stunning spaces. Valley locals, on the other hand, know them for the off-the-charts ostentatious good time that follows them wherever they go.

On this weekend, 6 guys or gals (or whomever's got the mettle) get a rare peek at how these legends do what they do, at work and at play. First, you'll partake in a blending session with Kirk at Venge Vineyards, followed by a tasting and vineyard lunch. The next day, you'll spend the morning in the vines with Oscar and his team, followed by a collector tasting of his Tres Perlas wines at Brown Ranch Vineyard, then an authentic Mexican lunch and tequila tasting - and as you might know, any day that ends with a tequila tasting never ends with the tequila tasting.

You'll wrap the weekend in true Napa Valley style with a dinner at Richard's design studio, a night that's guaranteed to be just like his work and the man himself: off the charts and over the top. From costumes to burlesque, nothing's ever out of bounds when Richard's in the room, so bring some Advil—and leave your smartphone and your inhibitions in your room.

You've been warned. This trio is ready to party, and give you an unforgettable glimpse of a Napa Valley hedonism that few see—and even fewer survive.
