This is Napa Valley. Thomas Rivers Brown is one of Napa Valley's most decorated winemakers. He has crafted so many perfect wines that it would be reasonable – expected, even – for this lot to include a decadent dinner structured around his many 100-pointers.

For something a little less predictable, three (3) couples will spend two (2) nights at The Riverain House, and have dinner with Thomas, as well as Riverain proprietors Dean & Laurie Gray and Steve Nordhoff.

Chef Josh Mitchell will fly in truffles from Italy, and prepare a meal to be paired with rare Italian gems from T.R.B.'s personal cellar: Piedmontese beauties from the '60s, '70s, and '80s by Giacomo Conterno, Bartolo Mascarello, and Bruno Giacosa.

Of course, one cannot dine with Thomas Rivers Brown without partaking in some of his wines, so Dean, Laurie and Steve will cap the evening with some of Thomas's greatest 100-point hits from their personal cellar.
