To most, “getting wild in wine country” means spending $300 on Uber rides, passing out before dinner, and maybe losing an iPhone in a row of Cab Franc. But in South Africa, it means something else entirely.

Luxury travel agency Azurine Travel will send you on a journey to discover the best of South Africa. Their services will include four (4) nights for one couple at the five-star Sabi Sands Savanna Lodge, one (1) night at Saxon Hotel in Johannesburg, and two (2) nights at One&Only Capetown, as well as a Capetown wine tour. And no trip to Africa would be complete without a full-day safari, to make you appreciate those plush accommodations a little bit more.

Business class flights are included and, best of all, the trip is customizable, in case a jaunt to the opposite side of the globe doesn’t quite scratch that exotic itch (any extra expenses incurred to be paid by traveler).
